Potsdam, January 19, 2022

SEBASTIAN WILHARM, 773088

and

NAILIA MIRZAKHMEDOVA, 812314

commit to working on task E:

Multimedia Automatic Misogyny Identification, Subtask A: A basic task about misogynous meme identification, where a meme should be categorized either as misogynous or not misogynous.

How will you communicate with each other?

For asynchronous communication the messenger Telegram will be used.

Synchronous communication will be done through Zoom calls for shorter updates or in-person meetings for more extensive sessions.

Code and other implementation-relevant data will be stored and exchanged through Github.

How often and where will you meet? How will you make sure that your meetings are productive?

We will meet in person at least once a week in the coworking space in Neues Palais.

Each member of the group should prepare a list of questions to discuss during the meeting.

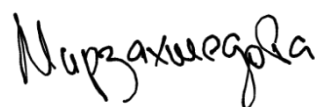

What will you do if a group member breaks any rules in this contract (e.g., doesn't show up for a meeting)?

If a member cannot attend a meeting, they need to declare that to the other member at least on the previous day, else they need to bring cookies to the next meeting. Messages need to be answered within 24 hours.

If these rules are broken two times in a row without notice, the injured party has the right to exclude the other member from the team.
